ployed in pick mining, for obviously it takes more men to produce SOVIETS READY by this method than by machines.

In fact, the Secretary of Labor claims that at least 51 per cent of the men employed in the bituminous fields are engaged in pick mining. So he applied his figures on the cost of living to that situation.

Dr. Harry Garfield's set of principles indicate clearly that he is in agreement with Secretary Wilson as Willing to Redeem $100,000,to the computations on the increased cost of living. He too says that inasmuch as the operators were permitted to increase their price in 1517, and a wage increase was corcrease in cost of living between 1914 and 1917, so must it be equitable to grant again an increase in wages and an increase in price of coal.

The only difference between the to be sanctioned so as to furnish an $100,000,000 loan floated in the United incentive in profit for operators States by both the Czar's and the Hartog, President of the company, targe and small.

THIRTY PER CENT. WAGE IN-CREASE FOR MINERS.

Now, however, it has been found that the operators made large profits -in some cases too large. Similarly, the Government is confident that the cost of living is going to drop within the next year or so. Therefore the actual figures agreed upon for the increase in the price of coal and the increase in wages must represent a compromise between the claims of the miners for 40 per cent. increase in wages and the willingness of the operators to pay an advance of 20 per cent. The exact figures will be half way between the two.

But there is another important factor which differs from the situation which existed when the maximum price was fixed at the outnet of the war. The public paid the whole bill. Now, however, it has been arranged that the increases in from the public in order that a reasonable profit shall be obtained by the operators and the incentive shall remain with both miners and operators to produce enough coal to meet the demands of the Nation and the and determined to try the remedy on himself. When found, he was almost stung to death. I was vividly reminded of this story when Mr. Frank E. Campbell, founder-proprietor of The Funeral Church, Broadway at 66th Street, showed me a letter from a downtown banker, signed E. O. It read in part:

"My effort to obtain a permit took me away from my business for two mornings, besides nine calls on the telephone. All this took my time, patience and money. Now more than ever do I appreciate what your institu-tion is doing."

"We ofttimes meet people," volunteered Mr. Campbell, "who think that they can do things better than our trained force of men and women. Others, again, think our establishment too elaborate, our preparations too detailed and our service too efficient for them to meet our charges."

I agree with Mr. Campbell, for I have heard similar remarks. But is it not a well known fact that the largest firm can give the best service at the lowest rate? The greater the purchasing power, the lower the cost and the more reasonable the sales price.

Then I compared the first letter with another Mr.

Campbell handed me, signed by an official of one of the largest Newark, N. J., Corporations. "Please allow me to express in a small way my appreciation of the service you rendered myself and my wife during my recent hereavement. The courtesy and consideration shown both myself, relatives and friends showed a marked degree of 'finesse' in handling such a delicate situation. Each requirement was so carefully attended to and proceeded with such regularity that I cannot help but remark upon the efficient organization you have at your institution. I wish to thank every one of you for all the courtesies received. I will not hesitate to let others, who may be placed in the same position that I was, know of what valued service you can give.
